

Get Dirty for a Good Cause!

Plant Trees on the Banks of the Green River at Fenster Levee

Saturday, October 30, 10 a.m. - 2 p.m.

By volunteering to plant native trees, you will:

- Help make Auburn a more green and beautiful city.
- Have fun working on a community project with your neighbors and other Auburn residents.
- Improve the riverside habitat that Chinook salmon, coho salmon, steelhead trout, and other fish depend on. Trees provide shade to cool the water, help hold the river bank in place, and are home to insects that are the primary food source of young fish.

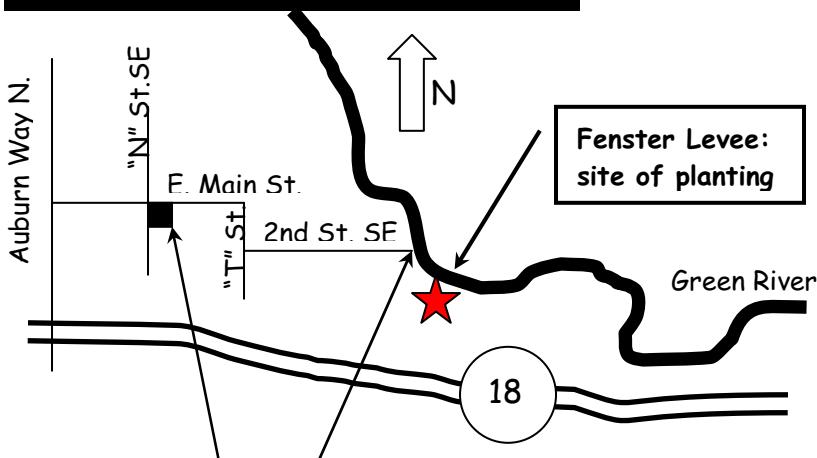

Advanced Sign Up Encouraged!
